

University of South Wales
Prifysgol
De Cymru

GLOBAL COMMUNITY AWARDS

The competition explained

Year 12 students undertaking their Global Community Project as part of the Advanced Skills Baccalaureate Wales are invited to submit competition entries linked to Sustainable Wales' key themes:

- Informed and active citizens
- A net-zero carbon and biodiverse society
- Local economy
- Resource management and waste prevention
- Healthy living and quality of life
- Responsible consumerism

Entries will be judged on how well they address the following questions:

1. The Problem – what is it?
2. Solutions – what are they, local or global?
3. Actions needed – what are the next steps to take for action as part of a Global Community?

At the judges discretion, prizes of up to £250 each will be offered for the two best entries under the following awards:

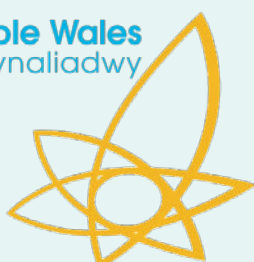

- The Steve Harris Award for Sustainable Development
- The Alwyn Jones Award for Global Citizenship

Entries will be judged by a panel made up of Sustainable Wales and University of South Wales associates.

Full details of the competition, including submission guidance and deadlines are available on the Sustainable Wales website:

Sustainable Wales
Cymru Gynaliadwy

Ideas to consider

- Population and migration
- Locality, mobility and transport
- Changes in land use, habitat and biodiversity
- Food and water – quality and quantity
- Energy use and production
- Technology and resources – use, scarcity and depletion
- Pollution and toxicity in the environment
- Climate change
- Social and economic trends
- Political will for change
- Engineering the future

NOTES

What is the problem? What personal, local and global actions can be taken?

Handwriting practice lines for notes.